

the art and science of smart patch testing™

EE356: Propylene glycol

CAS#: 57-55-6

Patient Information

Your patch test result indicates that you have a contact allergy to propylene glycol. This contact allergy may cause your skin to react when it is exposed to this substance although it may take several days for the symptoms to appear. Typical symptoms include redness, swelling, itching and fluid-filled blisters.

Where is propylene glycol found?

Propylene glycol is found in moisturizers, medicines, cosmetics, food, toothpastes, mouthwashes, hand sanitizers, antibacterial lotions, deodorants, anti-freeze, saline solutions, food coloring, flavorings, smoke machines, coolants, and tobacco products.

How can you avoid contact with propylene glycol?
